

Hi everyone,

Earlier this year we shared that For Our Kids is partnering with and supporting Banking on a Better Future, and both orgs are involved in the collective planning for this Oct. 29 day of action (more info below). While there is some time to join or plan an action, there are two time-sensitive planning pieces we've been asked to share with you:

1. If your group is in the Vancouver area, there is a planning session this Friday, Oct. 1st – time has not yet been confirmed but we'll forward that info as soon as we receive it. The Oct. 29 action in Vancouver is being led by Banking on a Better Future, and they've asked whether any For Our Kids teams could send a representative to the planning session. Please let me know if you are available (I know that's tough when you don't know what time it's at! But if you might have time free on Friday and you're interested, let me know and I'll share the time asap).
2. For any team in the For Our Kids network that is interested in planning or co-planning an action on Oct. 29, or just interested in finding out more, there is a webinar on Monday, Oct. 4th at 4 pm PT / 7 pm ET and you are all invited to join. The link to register is below.

Any questions or thoughts, I'd be happy to hear them. Thank you.

Over the last few years, a growing movement has been building momentum to stop the money pipeline to tar sands, oil and gas projects that will ruin our climate and violate Indigenous rights. As we approach the global climate talks in Glasgow, we are coming together to demand "fossil banks" like RBC stop funding fossil fuels.

On October 29 people around the world are planning a day of action against the biggest funders of climate chaos. In Canada that means Canada's biggest fossil bank, RBC, needs to feel the pressure from coast to coast to coast.

By forcing banks like RBC to quit fossil fuel financing and respect Indigenous rights, we can cut the fossil fuel industry's lifeline, accelerate a just transition for workers, and protect us from the worst of climate chaos. Without this pressure banks will keep pouring billions into fossil fuels every year.

Will you join us on a call to prepare for Oct 29?

Across the country, a growing network of Indigenous Land Defenders, NGOs, climate activists, and student strikers are preparing actions for Oct 29. We will highlight our key demand: that RBC respect Indigenous People's right to free, prior, and informed consent for any use of their lands and stop funding fossil fuels. Together we can remake this country and achieve harmony with Indigenous Peoples and nature.

We are inviting thousands of people like yourself across the country to join us in a webinar. We will hear from Indigenous Land Defenders and others affected by RBC's investments. We will also conduct a training about how you can be part of this movement. As part of hundreds of actions across the US, UK, Europe, and more, we need RBC to feel the pressure at branches across the country.
