- Proportional Representation by Drew Spencer (Illinois Room 348)
  In countries where there is proportional representation, Green candidates are elected in proportion to popular support for them. Enacting proportional representation in the United States has long been a primary goal for U.S. Greens. This workshop explains what the various forms of proportional representation are and how they work in practice, what progress there has been in enacting it in the United States, what the next steps are to increase its use and how that affects the Green Party and how the Green Party can be involved. The workshop will include specific attention to new opportunities to advance proportional representation in Congress and the value of proportional representation as a remedy to Voting Right Act cases and how participants can help in such cases.

- Move To Amend: Abolish Corporate Personhood by David Cobb (Ohio State Room 343)
  MTA is a campaign to amend the Constitution to abolish the "Corporate Personhood" and "Money Equals Speech" doctrines, which allow the wealthy to steal our right to self-government.

- 4:00-5:30 pm  Workshop session #9
  - 501s, 527s, PACs, and Other Four-letter Words: GPUS's Relationship With Party-Aligned Independent Political Advocacy Groups by Brian Bittner (Nebraska Room 335)
    Groups aligned with but not authorized by the Green Party will continue to organize in support of candidates and campaigns. How will GPUS relate to their activities?

- Green Party in American Government classes by Ted Pfeiff (Ohio State Room 343)
  This workshop will talk about how the Green Party can use participation in high school American Government classes to communicate with young people.
Workshop & Event Details

AS is a deeply personal, first-hand account of life and non-violent resistance in Bil’in, a West Bank village surrounded by Israeli settlements. Shot by Palestinian farmer Emad Burnat, who bought his first camera in 2005 to record the birth of his youngest son, Gibreel, the film was co-directed by Burnat and Guy Davidi, an Israeli filmmaker. Structured in chapters around the destruction of each one of Burnat’s cameras, the filmmakers’ collaboration follows one family’s evolution over five years of village upheaval.

Saturday, July 27

Workshop & Event Details

Thursday, July 25

1:30-3:00 pm  Workshop session #1

- The Racial Equity Lens: An Anti-Oppression Training for White People, By White People (Indiana Room 346)
  "Social Justice" is one of the "Four Pillars" of the international Green Party movement. This session aspires to help make that real by introducing participants to a set of tools/strategies that can help us build a political party with racial equity as a core value. Training activities will centralize race within a broader context of understanding oppression and privilege. We will conclude with next-steps and a focus on the long-term commitment of GPUS to include a racial equity lens in every aspect of its work. Emphasis will be on building knowledge and skills to support Greens willing to take an active and ongoing role for racial equity in GPUS now and in the future. Please note that this session is specifically designed for folks who self-identify and present as White, as do all three facilitators.

- Developing a Campaign Support Network (Michigan Room 351)
  This workshop, a joint venture between the GPUS Coordinated Campaign Committee and the Stein/Honkala Campaign, is an attempt to bring together state and national Green Party leaders who are most active with electoral candidates and campaigns. The intended audience of this session is experience campaigners - whether you are a current or former candidate or supporter - if you have worked on multiple campaigns, we want you!

- How to use Google Docs, Titan Pad, and other online tools for your GP work (Ohio State Room 343)

- 501s, 527s, PACs, and Other Four-letter Words: GPUS's Relationship With Party-Aligned Independent Political Advocacy Groups by Brian Bittner (Nebraska State Room 335)
  Groups aligned with but not authorized by the Green Party will continue to organize in support of candidates and campaigns. How will GPUS relate to their activities?

Workshop & Event Details

- Racial Equity Workshop cont’d (Indiana Room 346)
- Developing a Campaign Support Network cont’d (Michigan Room 351)
- Shifting the economic paradigm by Howard Switzer (Nebraska Room 335)
  A short history of monetary system design, how it affects the world, human behavior, the difference between money and wealth and how it represents a major blind spot in our understanding of money.

- How To Put On An Event by Karen Young (Ohio State Room 343)
  Don't let fear of the unknown or bad experiences in the past keep you from growing your local party through successful and good looking events. Everything you need to know to put on any kind of event, from A to Z. Checklists, suggested schedules, how to avoid common problems and pitfalls, how to get things done with little or no funds.

- A Theory For The Greens? by William Kreml (Penn State Room 337)
  Does the Green Party need something that either goes beyond the ten key values, or knits the ten key values together into a coherent whole? A suggested theoretical framework for the Green Party

Workshop & Event Details

- Proportional Representation by Drew Spencer (Illinois Room 348)
  In countries where there is proportional representation, Green candidates are elected in proportion to popular support for them. Enacting proportional representation in the United States has long been a primary goal for U.S. Greens. This workshop explains what the various forms of proportional representation are and how they work in practice, what progress there has been in enacting it in the United States, what the next steps are to increase its use and how that affects the Green Party and how the Green Party can be involved. The workshop will include specific attention to new opportunities to advance proportional representation in Congress and the value of proportional representation as a remedy to Voting Rights Act cases and how participants can help in such cases.

- Move To Amend: Abolish Corporate Personhood by David Cobb (Ohio State Room 343)
  MTA is a campaign to amend the Constitution to abolish the "Corporate Personhood" and "Money Equals Speech" doctrines, which allow the wealthy to steal our right to self-government.

- 4:00-5:30 pm  Workshop session #9
  - 501s, 527s, PACs, and Other Four-letter Words: GPUS's Relationship With Party-Aligned Independent Political Advocacy Groups by Brian Bittner (Nebraska Room 335)
    Groups aligned with but not authorized by the Green Party will continue to organize in support of candidates and campaigns. How will GPUS relate to their activities?

- Green Party in American Government classes by Ted Pfeiff (Ohio State Room 343)
  This workshop will talk about how the Green Party can use participation in high school American Government classes to communicate with young people.
