GREENLATINOS STATEMENT ON WHITE HOUSE DECISION TO RESCIND DACA

WASHINGTON, DC – Today in response to the Trump Administration’s decision to end the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program and end protections to over 800,000 model community members, Mark Magaña, President & CEO of GreenLatinos issued the following statement:

DACA recipients are daughters and sons, brothers and sisters, and some are even young parents. We are talking about 800,000 inspiring young adults who are going to school, working, taking care of their families, defending their communities, and contributing to the future of America. This is their home, their only home. Ripping their legal status away from them so that this President can track them down and deport them is immoral and wrong. We will not stand by as families are destroyed and separated. We will be relentless in our defense of those who are simply seeking a better life for themselves and their families.
