

“Sushila was the one that raised the issue of the University Port Meadow buildings. I didn’t see the other political parties getting involved until it was a vote winner for them.”

“There are few people around who can cut to the truth as Sushila does. Our city would be a lesser place without her - Oxford City Council desperately needs councillors like her.”

~ Adrian Arbib,
Port Meadow campaigner

“I’ve known Sushila for many years. She’s someone of great integrity and a fantastic campaigner who’ll work tirelessly for you.”

~ Caroline Lucas,
Green MP for
Brighton Pavilion

“Sushila is a hard-working campaigner who is active all year round - not just at election time. She has experience of City and County Councils and working with local groups and residents. She is the natural choice to represent North Ward.”

~ Craig Simmons,
Leader of the Green Group,
Oxford City Council

What Sushila stands for

I pledge to work hard to:

1. REINTRODUCE the Area Committees abolished by Labour giving North Oxford people real power with decision making on planning issues, a devolved budget and powers to make a difference.
2. REVERSE the centralisation of power into the hands of a select few Councillors and give all elected councillors, and the people they represent, real power on Committees.
3. REFORM planning policies to better protect our City's historic and natural environment.
4. STOP City Council spending on multi-million pound vanity projects whilst making millions of pounds worth of cuts to front line services and staff redundant.
5. PROTECT the Covered Market by opposing Labour's massive rent rises and stopping the introduction of chainstores.
6. TAKE ACTION on air pollution in Summertown and the City Centre. The City Council have just released yet another air quality strategy which in itself cannot deliver improvements.

It's Greens vs Labour here!

The facts suggest that this is a straight fight between the Labour Party and the Greens. Only a Green vote can beat Labour. Below: the result in 2012.

Protect St Giles

In her role as Chair of Oxford Pedestrians Association, Sushila is leading a campaign to narrow the roadway on St Giles without reducing traffic, to create Oxford's most beautiful public square.

The campaign is supported by several bodies and groups, including internationally renowned transport planner Ben Hamilton-Baillie. Campaigners are currently carrying out surveys of St Giles and have found that pedestrians are by far the highest users of St Giles.

FAIR IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR

Save Port Meadow

Sushila Dhall founded the Campaign to Save Port Meadow in September 2012, in response to widespread dismay as the Roger Dudman Way buildings rapidly went up without prior warning and with no Environmental Impact Assessment.

Campaigners' Freedom of Information requests have uncovered a number of irregularities in the planning process, including:

- intrusion into the 'protected' view-cone;
- Oxford University stating in the planning application that the development 'will not be visible from the majority of Port Meadow';
- the city Heritage Officer's advice being ignored without a lowering of the roof heights; and

- soil contamination remediation not being carried out.

There is concern for the badgers which are enclosed at one end of the allotments with a tunnel taking them along the railway line, which many of the badgers are afraid to use.

It is not enough to say 'never again'. If these flats remain they set a precedent, meaning no view from Port Meadow and no protected view-cone will be safe from developers.

The Campaign to Save Port Meadow is supporting a legal challenge, with an oral hearing due on 23 October.
