

EXPANDING OUR HOUSING TOOLKIT

with Sara Stephens + Cameron Rhudy

of the Sustainable Economies Law Center www.theselc.org

WED. SEPTEMBER 7, 2016 6-8P

1001 Emerson Street (enter on Addison)

Palo Alto, CA 94301

Soaring property values, displacement, and homelessness require new solutions to providing sustainable housing for every member of society. Join us for a presentation and conversation on how communities can expand their housing toolkit.

Alternatives to traditional affordable housing approaches can include community land trusts, real estate investment cooperatives and permanent real estate cooperatives, as well as creative ways to finance these projects. These alternatives can also ensure long-term affordability and empower residents by ensuring residents have democratic control over their land and housing. Examples of how cities can support these models of sustainable housing development will be provided.
