

<https://www.eventbrite.ca/e/lunch-together-to-connect-climate-chaos-with-mental-health-housing-and-reconciliation-tickets-61444719811>

June 7 come for lunch to connect the climate dots with each other

The Community and Social Planning Council's work "Can't stay and Can't leave" identified fear as a common experience of tenants in this region. Victoria's high real estate prices mean young families who do buy in live with worrying debt loads. Forest fires, smoky summers, flooding and increasingly extreme weather frighten many of us. Many employers and unions are working to understand rising levels of anxiety and stress in their workplaces. What used to be seen as simple pleasures in life like a healthy breakfast or a visit with a loved one carry the complexity of associated high carbon footprints.

GVAT has pledged to act together on housing and mental health through the lenses of Climate Change and Reconciliation

- What do they have in common with each other?
- Can we make a new story out of their interconnectivity? What might be the elements of that?
- How can we use this moment to strengthen out organizations and each other?
- How can we set each other and ourselves up to bring meaning and success in our day to day lives?

The event is free but it helps us if you get a ticket using the link above.