In the News

We at HealthCare for All Colorado Foundation (HCACF) accept a mission to provide education and research that advance high quality health services at a reasonable cost, resulting in a healthy community. Our aim is to provide a newsletter focused on single risk pool public national health insurance (aka single-payer financing) such as Medicare for All.

Our purpose is to communicate news to our audience that reflects the values we share, with special consideration for justice, freedom and security related to health care financing and delivery. We will attempt to promote dialogue around our common interests and share relevant updates, especially regarding current research, information and pertinent links on the HCACF website.

From the Research & Education Committee

Michele Swenson created a video highlighting the intersection of health and environmental justice in North Denver.

Tom Gottlieb attended the HealthcareNOW Strategy Conference - June 2018. Labor and Social activists totaled 400+ to form a strategy for health care reform.

From the Center for the Study of Public National Health Insurance (PNHI)

The Center for the Study of a Public National Health Insurance (PNHI) aims to assure that an equitable health care delivery system is supported by an equitable financing model. Two recent studies reported on the HCACF website make-the case that the private health insurer market (both for-profit and not-for-profit) do not achieve the goals of high quality health care at a reasonable cost. - Public Takings of Private Insurance (Van Der Wege, Gottlieb)

Comments and dialogue are encouraged.

HCAC Foundation believes it is time to present a financial business plan which provides health care services for all. Tom Gottlieb summarizes three existing documents on our website that directly address health care financing and how to eliminate private corporate insurance control.

HCACF/HCAC and Coalition Building: In June 2018 HCACF co-presidents Vince Markovchick and Tom Gottlieb and HCAC president Lydia Guzman attended the Colorado Foundation for Universal Health Care Board Meeting. A proposal was made to consider forming a coalition of local organizations with a primary mission of health care reform. Conclusion: Coalition building for promoting social justice issues was agreed upon. The form of this coalition is yet to be determined.

Donna Smith was recently interviewed for a July 18th article in Tarbell regarding her lifelong fight for healthcare for all.
