

HARRIS COUNTY REPUBLICAN PRECINCT CHAIRS FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is a Precinct Chair?

Precinct Chairs can be the most influential leaders in their communities. They are the basic building blocks of any successful political party. Organizing and campaigning are primary responsibilities of a precinct chair. Build a team to win! You and your volunteers will talk to voters in your area by knocking on doors, telephoning, hosting events, and other ways to get to know your voting neighbors. Precinct chairs are essential for building the Republican Party. Besides organizing and campaigning, Republican Precinct Chairs also represent their home precincts on the Harris County Republican Party Executive Committee.

Texas law gives precinct chairs limited official powers, primarily the ability in certain circumstances to fill Party nominations for office that become vacant between primary and general elections (such as the event of death). Otherwise, a Precinct Chair is the primary political representative of the Republican Party in that precinct.

What are the qualifications needed to be a Precinct Chair?

Qualifications are set by the Texas Election Code. To be a precinct chair, a person must be a voter residing in that precinct and vote in the Republican Primary or sign an oath of affiliation with the Republican Party. A Precinct Chair cannot be a candidate for, or holder of, elected office of the federal, state, or county government.

How do you get to be a Precinct Chair?

Precinct chairs are elected to a two-year term by primary election voters in their precinct in even-numbered years. Between Republican Primary elections, vacant precinct chair positions are filled by appointment (see below).

What are the duties and responsibilities of the Precinct Chair?

A Precinct Chair should work with Republicans in the precinct, promote Republican candidates and events, and maximize the precinct's vote for Republican candidates. Besides being a member of the Harris County Republican Executive Committee, the Precinct Chair is the main contact for the Republican Party in his/her neighborhood. This includes recruiting volunteers, organizing block walks (door to door) to canvass and distribute campaign materials, phone banking, phoning from home, and encouraging neighbors to vote.

A precinct chair is expected to serve as an election judge, or to recruit someone who can serve. The precinct chair also convenes the Republican precinct convention after the Primary Election.

What is the Executive Committee?

While the County Chair is the senior elected party official in Harris County, the Executive Committee of precinct chairs is the governing body of the Harris County Republican Party and conducts all official party business. The Executive Committee meets at least four times per year.

Is Precinct Chair a paid position?

Precinct Chairs are political positions. They are volunteers and are not paid.

What is a vacancy appointment?

A precinct that has no Chair is considered vacant. Between Primary elections, a qualified person may apply on the Harris County Republican Party website online application form to fill the vacancy. The Harris County Republican Executive Committee's Vacancy Committee will review the application, usually interview the applicant, and make a recommendation. If approved by a majority of the Executive Committee with a quorum present, the applicant will be the new Precinct Chair for the remainder of the term.

What tools does HCRP give Precinct Chairs to organize?

HCRP gives each Precinct Chair access to our database of Republicans and other voters in their precinct and full access to add information about voters. HCRP also makes available programs and applications for organizing, communicating, and phone banking, from an office or from the comfort of your home, as well as for door-to-door campaigning. The County Party also assists Precinct Chairs in planning and organizing events.

What kind of training is provided for Precinct Chairs?

HCRP Staff holds regular trainings both in person and online to familiarize Precinct Chairs and volunteers alike on campaigning, organizing, and deploying the databases and technical tools available to our precinct chairs. The Harris County Republican Party Training and Development Committee also hosts training sessions on what it takes to be an effective Precinct Chair. These events and many other training opportunities are regularly posted on the Harris County Republican Party website. www.harriscountygop.com.
