■ YOU'VE JUST GOTTEN THE DIAGNOSIS: HIE

HYPOXIC

Lack of oxygen

ISCHEMIC

Restricting blood flow

ENCEPHALOPATHY

Affecting the brain

Your child has likely gone through multiple tests, MRIs, EEGs and other scans.

Your head is spinning and you have more questions than answers about what this will mean for your little one.

And the answer from the doctors and specialists is often: wait and see.

HOPE IS FOUND IN THE JOURNEY

We are a group of more than 3,500 parents from around the world who have been where you are.

We have been scared. We have felt alone. We have felt overwhelmed.

Our mission is to foster hope in families affected by HIE through awareness, support and education.

■ YOU ARE NOT ALONE

At Hope for HIE, we focus on families impacted by HIE, whether their injuries happened at birth, or anytime throughout childhood, and no matter the outcome. Our goal is to unite these families to be there for each other, to vent, to ask and answer questions and, most importantly, to offer support.

■ WHAT YOU WILL FIND WITH US

- A group of parents who has been where you are and can offer support and answer questions with their own experiences.
- Continued support, no matter what you and your family are facing. Our families have been through it all.
- A chance to meet other families in person through regional and national retreats and gatherings.
