One act of love for neighbors and future generations is to help heal the wounded Earth and restore clean water. Planting trees is the best action you can take to help restore damaged local waterways. The Stewardship Service Day is a wonderful opportunity for your faithful Volunteer Group to plant trees and contribute to healing.

More than 200 volunteers of all faiths are needed for an interfaith mega-planting to help restore Rock Creek and Stoney Creek. This can be for youth groups, family groups, men's groups, etc. We seek to partner with 20 congregations or other faith-based volunteer groups, each bringing 10-20 volunteers to participate together.

Activities will include a kickoff interfaith liturgy in the morning, followed by tree and shrub planting. We provide everything – tools, gloves, refreshments, water, and training! Congregational groups will work together with a pre-assigned trained crew leader.
