

Richard Priem is the Director of Security Operations at CSS. Prior to joining CSS, Richard worked in various capacities for the United Nations, including most recently as a counter-terrorism adviser to the Security Council. He also served as the New York Director for International Affairs at the Anti-Defamation League. Before moving to the United States, Richard led training for all volunteers in the official security organization of the Jewish community in the Netherlands and completed his military service in a paratrooper reconnaissance unit of the IDF. He holds an MSc. in Foreign Service from Georgetown University and a BA in History and Arabic from the University of Amsterdam.