Introduction

There are 6 weeks of school summer holidays and during that time we all want young people to be safe enjoying themselves getting new and exciting experiences.

For parents it can be a difficult and worrying time - particularly if they are working and can only take a limited amount of time off. And holiday activities can be expensive - particularly if it's raining and outdoor activities are not possible.

I have produced this booklet to show young people and their parents some of the many activities that are on offer here in Southwark.

I hope you find it useful. Please let me know your school summer holiday experiences. Are there activities that should be added to the booklet? Let me know if any of the information in the booklet doesn't match what you find when you contact them.

The government is cutting back funds for councils and community groups and, as your local Member of Parliament I am pressing them to protect summer holiday schemes. But in the meantime I hope you'll be able to find what suits you and my thanks go to all the volunteers and community groups who work hard over the summer to ensure it is a happy time and not a headache.

The twelve libraries of Southwark offer a great range of books for children, students, and teens. It’s free to join and borrow books and all of their activities are completely free.

Their teenage sessions are not all about reading. They have special guests like popular authors and other things like their DJ and rapping sessions at Peckham library.

They also run a goals club for all football fans, with challenging football quizzes to test your knowledge.

You don’t need a book, just turn up and join in.
