

invites you to

LANDCARE for the Locals,
Community landcare at local halls

2pm to 5pm

Sunday 15 July 2018

Rowella Hall

Please come along to our special landcare meeting at Rowella Hall.

We have a short program of presentations and invite you to then join us for drinks with nibbles - coffee and tea provided. (byo other drinks)

Come along share ideas about:

Nature conservation on small properties

Jo Lyall from Nest Enviro is a specialist environmental consultant based at Glengarry. Jo will talk through some simple ideas that small block owners can consider, in order to make a difference in the protection of some of our most threatened local species.

Weeds, how to identify them, how to manage them, how to replace them.

Members of our group would like to run a Q&A session with you to help identify what is a weed and what is not and what might be good ways to manage weeds in the local area. Bring samples (in sealed plastic bags please!) along for identification.

We are keen to share thoughts and encourage local community interest in caring for our land!

All welcome!
