

A Larchmont Charter School graduate is a lifelong learner who:

- Communicates effectively:
 - by writing clearly,
 - by listening and hearing others,
 - by expressing oneself honestly and
 - through many artistic frameworks.
- Seeks to understand:
 - by formulating questions,
 - by pursuing answers,
 - by reading critically and thoughtfully,
 - as a reflective learner,
 - the perspectives of a world community.
- Demonstrates respect:
 - for other students,
 - for oneself,
 - for teachers,
 - for school materials,
 - for the school site,
 - for one's family and community,
 - for the environment, living beings, and the earth's resources.
- Takes responsibility:
 - for one's actions,
 - for one's words,
 - for one's learning,
 - for one another,
 - for the health of one's body and mind.
- Perseveres:
 - when problems cannot be solved readily,
 - when faced with criticism and disappointment,
 - to work through struggles and setbacks,
 - by attempting trials: examining errors, trying harder, differently, and then trying again.
