

The Noose Tightens on the British Empire

On Thursday morning, Attorney General William Barr is scheduled to release the Mueller report, with redactions, according to laws regarding security and the privacy of Grand Jury proceedings. While the Trump haters and conspirators are preparing various operations to keep Russiagate going, despite the report's exoneration of Trump's imagined "collusion," the reality that the British ran the entire operation, as identified from the beginning by EIR, is now bursting out into the open, and is threatening to be the subject of criminal investigations in the Department of Justice and in the Congress.

The Daily Caller's Chuck Ross on Tuesday ran an article titled: "Former British Spymaster Has Flown Under the Radar in Russia Probe, Despite Links to Key Figures." He names Richard Deerlove, MI6 chief from 1999 to 2004, as a key operative working with fellow MI6 operative Christopher Steele, the author of the now discredited dossier on Trump's supposed collusion with Russia. Deerlove was also directly involved in setting up several Trump Campaign operatives for fake links to Russia (George Papadopolous, Carter Page, Gen. Flynn), together with British intelligence assets Joseph Mifsud and CIA asset Stefan Halper, a close ally of Deerlove at Cambridge.

Meanwhile, Rep. Devin Nunes, the ranking member of the House Intelligence Committee, told Fox News Tuesday that he will immediately investigate three cases of suspected "set ups," efforts to create fake connections between the Trump campaign and the Russians, all directly run by British operatives: the Mifsud role with Australian Ambassador Alexander Downer in falsely connecting George Papadopoulos to Russian spies; Halper and Deerlove setting up Gen. Flynn with fake Russian connections; and the infamous Trump Tower meeting with a Russian lawyer, set up by the slimy British operative Rob Goldstone.

What's more, the VIPS (Veteran Intelligence Professionals for Sanity) issued a public Memorandum for President Trump on Tuesday, called "The Fly in the Mueller Ointment," warning him that the Mueller report, despite finding no evidence of collusion, maintains the lie that the Russians hacked leading Democratic Party computers and provided their emails to Wikileaks, falsely described as a Russian front. Detailing their forensic proof that the emails were downloaded, not hacked, the VIPS warn the President that if these lies are allowed to stand, the idea that Trump was elected due to Russian "interference" in the election will remain, "and that melody will linger on for the rest of your presidency, unless you seize the moment.... You are the President, and there may be no better time than now to face them down." (see Bill Binney interview on www.larouchepac.com).

Ironically, despite the flurry of slanderous obituaries in the US and the UK, the death of Lyndon LaRouche in February has, at the same time, focused the attention of people around the world on the fact that LaRouche has led an historic battle over the past fifty years to expose the British effort to subvert and control the United States. British maintenance of the US as a "dumb giant," carrying out the Empire's colonial wars in Southeast Asia and the Middle East, was aimed primarily at keeping the U.S. divided from Russia and China, while preparing for the next global war. The fact that Trump has broken from this British leash, and insists that the U.S. should be friends with Russia and China, and must stop the "endless" colonial wars, terrifies the British and their American assets.

The potential that the LaRouche policy could be adopted has never been greater, thus returning the United States to its original Hamiltonian "American System," and bringing the nations of the world together in a New Silk Road-based economic and cultural renaissance. This is our task — putting the exoneration of LaRouche in the forefront of the mobilization to replace the dying British Empire with a new universal paradigm, based on sovereign nations collaborating in the development of mankind on Earth and in the Solar System, and bringing dominion over the universe.
