

Trump Must Be Allowed To Control U.S. Policy Towards Russia — We Must Crush Mueller's Russiagate Scam

January 16, 2018—President Trump has consistently, and repeatedly, declared Robert Mueller's Russiagate to be a total fraud, an attempt to overturn the will of the nation in the presidential election, and in several aspects outright treasonous. He has also repeated over and over, throughout his campaign and as President, that having friendly relations with Russia is a "good thing," and critical for a successful U.S. policy in the world.

Yet, Russia policy continues to be run by others. President Putin and Foreign Minister Lavrov, in protesting various U.S. policies detrimental to Russia and to U.S.-Russian relations, almost always say that President Trump is committed to improving relations, but that the effort to remove him is holding him back. This is true, and must be quickly reversed.

A review of Lavrov's comments at his year-end press conference today demonstrates the urgency for the success of the LaRouchePAC campaign to expose and destroy Robert Mueller's British-directed coup attempt against Trump and against Russia.

Pointing at the U.S. illegal seizure of Russian diplomatic property in the U.S.; at the threat that the successful collaboration in Syria to defeat ISIS is now being turned into a partition of Syria or full scale regime change; at the expansion of NATO military forces to Russia's border; at unilateral sanctions and unilateral use of military force — Lavrov sounded a stern warning:

"We are witnessing a devaluation of international law, and the diminishing role of multilateral institutions." The U.S. and its allies "still want to handle matters solely on the basis of dictating and putting forward ultimatums. [They] do not want to hear the viewpoints of other global policy centers and, actually, do not want to recognize the reality of the emerging multipolar world. The methods they resort to, to contain their rivals, are for the most part, rather dubious and unscrupulous. Their range is wide — from deploying a global missile defense system to unilateral sanctions, extra-territorial use of their legislation and threats to tackle any international issues in accordance with their own scenario exclusively, stopping at nothing, including the use of brute military force."

These things are true — but, it is most important to emphasize that we are at a point in history that this world crisis can be rectified, that the U.S. can be pulled out from under the domination of British political influence and British ideology. Geopolitics can and must be destroyed — the Darwinian dog-eat-dog mentality of zero-sum conflict and confrontation — in favor of the win-win concept underlying the New Silk Road. This is what Trump embraced on his visit to China in November. This is what French President Macron equally embraced on his visit to China earlier this month. And this is what Lyndon LaRouche set in motion fifty years ago, by creating the new ideas required to lift mankind's thinking to a higher level: to the level of the laws of the physical universe, to see fifty or a thousand years ahead in order to discover what must be done today.

The coup-plotters against Trump are in deep trouble. The U.S. Congress now has in its hands the documentary proof that the entire campaign to demonize Russia and to remove Trump from office has been based on lies, on fabrications by MI6 agent Christopher Steele and his accomplices. Much of it is classified and cannot be released to the public as yet, but key members of Congress have shown the courage to make it known that serious crimes have been committed by the FBI, DOJ, and CIA leaders from the Bush/Obama era, operating today as a criminal cabal outside of government.

The effort to save their coup by declaring the President to be a racist, and a madman, expresses a state of hysteria and panic by the very people who are responsible for the racist and mad policies which have kept the world in poverty and perpetual warfare for the past two decades.

There is no time to lose. The New Silk Road is the means to unite the world behind a higher level of thought and cooperation. It will only work with a parallel campaign to restructure the bankrupt western financial system, through Glass-Steagall and the related "Four Laws" presented by LaRouche. It is in our hands.
