Partnerships that stand the test of time are a testament to shared commitment, cooperation and vision. United Way Greater Toronto's ongoing work with Toronto & York Region Labour Council is one such partnership.

We are truly privileged to have played a role in your important history across this region and country and excited to celebrate not one, but two milestones. This year, as we celebrate your 150th Anniversary, we also mark 65 years of working together, brothers and sisters, shoulder to shoulder.

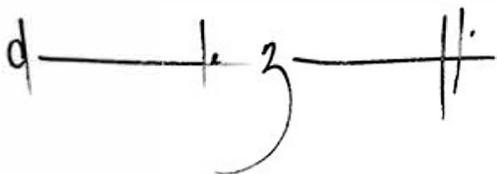

As one of our founding partners, we are grateful that Labour has stood beside us to champion many of the values we hold close and that move our mission forward – solidarity with labour and community and the desire to achieve a just and equitable society for everyone.

From early innovation in 1957, when the Labour Council promoted and encouraged the concept of agency tours among our network, to the more recent, invaluable leadership provided in advocating for Community Benefits Agreements, Labour has done so much to champion the work of United Way.

And throughout it all, you have kept United Way near and dear as your charity of choice. In this year, especially, with all of us navigating through a global pandemic, we have never valued your support so much.

For all of this and more, we are forever grateful, and look forward to facing new horizons and keeping community at the heart of everything we do together.

Always and only, thank you.
