Infrastructure - Lacking Priority

We are in a world more different today than any one of us would have imagined just a year or ago. The Covid pandemic has highlighted many inadequacies within society and within the infrastructure that supports it.

As the Lead Candidate in Mid & West Wales, I would make investments for the long term benefits a priority.

In earlier elections, I have campaigned for investment in our infrastructure - roads, railways and Broadband. Sadly, little has been invested in the first two, and whilst Broadband has seen investment, working and schooling from home during the pandemic has highlighted that for far too many, the investments still mean too many homes and too many businesses are without adequate internet connections. There are homes in my own council ward where fibre optics pass within twenty feet, but these homes are not connected and there are no plans to ensure they are, whilst our railways languish at the bottom of the list for investment and all we have is railways fit for the 1960's.

Healthcare - Taken for granted for too long

The pandemic has placed our NHS under serious strains, we have all come to recognise just how important it really is. For many, being able to enlist with an NHS dentist is impossible in normal times.

As a nation, we must give the NHS the recognition it truly deserves. Governments expecting us to stand on our doorsteps and clap is not fit recognition. Proper investment is needed, adequate and timely provision of equipment is what it needs, a decent income is what our Health Workers deserve.

Teamwork - For a better Wales

I am a team player and have worked with MP's, Assembly members, and many organisations such as PAWB (People Against Wylfa B) and Friends of the Earth trying to build a better Wales. I campaigned with William Powell when he was Mid & West Wales Assembly member to save the Lloyd-George Museum in Llanystumdwy, we also worked with the campaign to save Blaenau Ffestiniog Hospital and we highlighted the need for improved services at Ysbyty Alltwen near Porthmadog.

As the number one List Candidate, I will campaign with the Welsh Liberal Democrat team and any agencies to deliver a better Wales.
