(24) that overcoming the challenge of Brexit and restoring government in Northern Ireland are / (25) inextricably linked as issues. / (26) Congress believes:1.	Notes "that the Withdrawal Act Bill (WAB) agreed by Prime Minister Johnson does not itself legislate for the stated 'consent mechanism' for the Northern Ireland Assembly in relation to aligning with certain EU rules post-Brexit (as set out in the Protocol) and relies only on the Government using its delegated powers, under clause 21, to give effect to such consent mechanism through regulations instead of by an Act of Parliament. Also, neither does the WAB set out the details of how VAT and Customs will work in Northern Ireland, and refers these decisions to be made by the Joint Committee, made up of representatives from the EU and the UK. Finally, the WAB does not set out what role, if any, the Northern Ireland Executive and Assembly would have in the decision whether to extend the transition period."

(50) the Irish government additionally has a responsibility to uphold and protect the Agreement / (51) as its guarantor. / (52) Congress resolves:1.	Believes "that the WAB de facto creates a border between Northern Ireland and the UK as, in practice, Northern Ireland will apply many EU customs rules and there will effectively be a customs and regulatory border between Great Britain and Northern Ireland in the Irish Sea. This is particularly relevant in the case that the UK and the EU fail to conclude a new future relationship agreement by the end of the transition period, when the UK would then revert to "WTO" trading terms with the EU, and Northern Ireland would face trade barriers for goods moving from Great Britain into Northern Ireland, restricting free movement of goods and undermining a fair playing field."
