POLLS, ELECTIONS and CONFERENCES

It is now clear that the General Election will be in tandem with the local elections on May 6th. Over the last few months the polls have been getting tighter and there is real evidence of rising support for the Liberal Democrats. We had a successful Spring conference and are now seeing a jump in the polls. Every time our media coverage goes up, so does our support. This means that the extra coverage provided by the Election campaign and the TV debates will give us a real boost. Every bit of work we do now builds a base for election success on May 6th.
