

Sherri Mitchell was born and raised on the Penobscot Indian Nation in Maine. She is an Indigenous Rights Attorney and a global advocate for human rights and Earth rights. She is the founder and Director of the Land Peace Foundation, an organization dedicated to the protection of Indigenous rights, and the preservation of the Indigenous way of life. She has worked with countless individuals and groups helping them devise legal strategies for rights-based action, while also teaching in-depth workshops that focus on the details of building strong, effective nonviolent rights-based movements.

“The good we secure for ourselves is precarious and uncertain until it is secured for all of us and incorporated into our common life.”

—Jane Adams

How to Build a Movement to Protect Indigenous People’s Rights

A one-day workshop with Sherri Mitchell, Esq.
Indigenous Rights Attorney

Sat. Oct. 29, 2016

9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Unitarian Universalist Church of Ellsworth
121 Bucksport Rd. (Rt.1) Ellsworth

Fee: By donation to cover expenses.

Open to all interested, but space is limited, so register soon!

To register call 207-546-4246 or email
fbodell@midmaine.com Register by Oct 24th.

Topics To Be Covered:

- Reaching Back: Building a Foundation with Core Values
- Moving Forward: Understanding Obstacles Created by our Shared History
- Building a Movement: What is required?
- Building the Fire: Keeping Participants Engaged
- Creating an Effective Campaign and Building Viable Networks
- Recognizing our Blind Spots
- Finding the Interest Convergence Points
- Putting the Wheels in Motion/Current Issues