

When someone is accused of committing a crime, they're given a list of rights. But what about the rights of victims and their families?

Marsy's Law for Oklahoma SQ 794 will give crime victims the rights they deserve.

CRIME VICTIMS DESERVE...

- THE RIGHT to be treated with courtesy, fairness and respect throughout the criminal justice proceedings.
- THE RIGHT to receive timely notification of proceedings, offender's custodial status and other major developments in their case.
- THE RIGHT to be present at court proceedings and to provide input to the prosecutor before a plea agreement is finalized.
- THE RIGHT to be heard at all proceedings that may result in the offender's release.
- THE RIGHT to restitution.

VOTE YES ON STATE QUESTION 794 IN NOVEMBER 2018!

Crime victims, their families, law enforcement officials, district attorneys, advocacy and support groups support Marsy's Law!

Speaking on behalf of my fellow survivors, when the unthinkable happens, you are thrown into this world where you are trying to get answers and you don't know what to expect. SQ 794 is important to ensure that victims of crime would have the support of the State Constitution behind them in a way that they simply do not have right now.

Lauren Layman, crime victim and president of Oklahoma Homicide Survivors Group

We can only achieve justice when those who have not been affected by crime become as indignant as those of us who are affected. Every victim of crime deserves compassion and dignity and respect. The passage of Marsy's Law will make that happen.

Sheri Farmer, crime victim and founder of Oklahoma Chapter of Parents of Murdered Children

Oklahoma victims suffer daily in the process of trying to obtain justice. We are given no rights, no options - often spending birthdays, holidays, anniversaries in a courtroom looking at the perpetrator who has the law on their side. Oklahoma victims deserve better. So I ask you to vote yes on SQ 794 in November of 2018 and give the rights back to the victims and victims' families.
