

Maurice G. Washington

was born and raised in Charleston South Carolina. Washington is President and CEO of Trust Management, LLC, a financial and consulting services company.

The SC General Assembly elected Washington from the sixth congressional district to the South Carolina State University Board of Trustees in April 2001. He served as chair of the board from June 2002-September 2008.

Washington earned the Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology from South Carolina State University. Upon receipt of his undergraduate degree, he entered the securities and insurance industry where he has worked for twenty years as a comprehensive insurance and financial advisor.

Throughout the years, Washington has committed himself as a voice for the public. He was elected to the Charleston City Council in 1991 and served until 1999. In this capacity, Washington served as chair of the ways and means and Community Development Committees. In 1992, Washington was appointed Mayor Pro-Tem of the City of Charleston.

In 2002, Governor Mark Sanford appointed Washington to his transition team. In this position, Washington assisted with numerous board and commission appointments, which included the Governor's Cabinet.

As a community leader, Washington has received numerous awards and recognitions from both civic and non-profit agencies, including the Charleston Regional Business Journal's under 40 Award and the Political Honoree for the MOJA Arts Festival. He has served on numerous boards, including the Bank of America (Charleston Area) Board of Directors; Trident Urban League; Spoleto Festival USA; Communities in Schools; South Carolina ETV (Charleston Area); Charleston Metro Chamber of Commerce; and South Carolina Coastal conservation league.

Washington is married to the former Violet Beauford, and they are the caring, devoted, and loving parents to four children and three grand children.