

Earth Day 2019

SERMON CONTEST

Michigan Interfaith Power & Light Guidelines

Topic

The sermon should address how your religious tradition calls your community to respond to the climate crisis. Connecting the health of our water, the health of our air, the health of our soils—all elements of our sacred, living Earth—with struggles for justice is encouraged.

Who Can Enter

This contest is open to clergy and laypeople from all traditions!

How to Enter

Submit the following to director@miipl.org by Friday, May 31:

1. Your name and title/role
2. Your contact information
3. The name and city of the congregation where the sermon will be given
4. Your religious tradition, if not obvious
5. The date the sermon was delivered
6. Your sermon text
7. Please also attach a photo in which you appear (by yourself or with members of your community)

Sermons must be delivered in a community setting some time in April or May.

By participating in this contest, you agree to allow Michigan IPL to use your submission materials (appropriately credited) in our communications.

Deadline: Friday, May 31.
