Legislative Spotlight: Senator Sean McCann (D-MI 20)

This is the latest in a regular series of features on Michigan's legislative leaders, as we take a look at their background in the Legislature and the Michigan oil and gas industry's economic impact on their district. These legislative spotlights will be archived in the news section of the MOGA webpage and featured in MOGA’s bi-weekly newsletter as well as in Michigan Oil & Gas News Monthly Report Editions.

Senator Sean McCann was elected to the Michigan Senate in 2018 to represent the 20th state senate district, which encompasses the entirety of Kalamazoo County. The first term Senator previously served in the State House.

McCann was drawn to public service as a student at Western Michigan University where he earned a bachelor's degree in political science. He spent his first years out of college working to build his community from the ground up as executive director of the Vine Neighborhood Association.

While working for Vine, McCann was elected to the Kalamazoo City Commission and served five two-year terms. As a commissioner, he worked on the clean-up of the Kalamazoo River, revitalization of Downtown Kalamazoo, fostering the community’s economic development and strengthening its public safety.

McCann was proud to help enact Kalamazoo’s Human Rights Ordinance and received the commission's 2009 Dedication & Service Award. During this time, he worked for the American Red Cross of Southwest Michigan, where he supported families affected by disasters, provided service to members of the armed forces and assisted with blood collection drives.

In 2010, McCann was elected to serve the city of Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo Township, city of Parchment and Cooper Township as the 60th District State Representative. During this time, he was a member of the Appropriations Committee. Before returning to the legislature, McCann worked as executive director of Kalamazoo Friends of Recreation, supporting local recreation programs and leading efforts to improve city parks.

In his first term as a State Senator, McCann sits on several committees. He is the minority vice chair on both the Senate Energy & Technology Committee as well as the Appropriations Subcommittee on Natural Resources and Environmental Quality. He also sits on the Appropriations Committee and the Appropriations Subcommittees for Agriculture and Rural Development and Capital Outlay.

In addition to his public service, Senator McCann has served on many boards and committees in his community. He is a member of the Northside Ministerial Alliance and a board member for Prevention Works, in addition to holding a lifetime membership with the NAACP. Senator McCann lives in Kalamazoo with his wife, Priscilla Lambert, and their two children, Alex and Lauren.
