EMPLOYEE TRANSPORTATION
BENEFITS PROGRAM

Catch the savings and benefits!

MetroWorks is a new transportation program from Capital Metro that benefits employers, employees and our community.

As one of the fastest-growing cities in the country, our city tops the list in many ways. Unfortunately, one of those chart-topping figures recognizes our city for the worst traffic congestion. Commute times are climbing and companies need a dependable way to get their employees to work.

With MetroWorks, companies can offer employees a valuable benefit that saves business owners significant dollars, reduces employee stress and keeps Austin clean. Employers can customize their program based on desired level of involvement and the unique needs of their workforce.

“Our company saves nearly $10,500 on parking expenses annually—we’re loving the bus.”

Judson L. Moore, Facilities Site Manager

Catch the Savings and Benefits

Companies that participate in the MetroWorks program receive deeply discounted transit passes (up to 20% for businesses and up to 35% for educational institutions), offset by tax incentives that make the pass program virtually free. Companies that participate in MetroWorks are part of the solution for keeping our growing workforce happy and our roads less congested. But wait, there’s more! MetroWorks offers employers and their employees these benefits:

- Saves costly parking fees
- Lowers employees’ gas and car maintenance costs
- Provides dependable, reliable transportation
- Fewer missed work days and late arrivals
- Reduces or eliminates stress associated with long commutes
- Boosts productivity
- Increases employee loyalty and retention
- Appeals to environmentally-conscious residents and customers
- More on-site parking for customers to access your business
- Marketing and PR opportunities for being a part of the solution to Austin’s congestion

Savings to Go

You can combine MetroWorks with the federal Commuter Tax Benefit incentive that offers savings for both businesses and employees. Here's how:

Employees can designate pre-tax dollars for transportation use through the federal Commuter Tax Benefit. This reduces taxable income and employers only pay employment taxes on the reduced salary.

If a company elects to pay part of an employee's commuting costs, they can deduct that amount as an employee benefit. To learn more about the specific tax deductions your company is eligible for through MetroWorks, contact your CPA.

“Organizations can play a big role in directly reducing congestion with MetroWorks. Passes cost significantly less than providing employees with parking.”

Connections Made Easy

Capital Metro offers new routes that conveniently connect downtown and residential hubs, including Slaughter Lane, North Lamar and The Domain. You can utilize one of 13 Park & Ride facilities including Lakeline Station, Howard Station, Tech Ridge Park & Ride and North Lamar Transit Center. Our buses and rail vehicles accommodate bicycles, so commuters can complete their journey to office, class or home easily.

Enroll Your Company and Get Moving

It's easy to make your company a MetroWorks partner. Visit capmetro.org/metroworks/agreement to complete and sign a simple application form on our website. An authorized Capital Metro representative can help you establish an account, figure out the best transit package for your employees' needs and send you the necessary order forms to place your first order.

Capital Metro accepts checks, MasterCard and Visa, but not AMEX. We deliver passes to your company free of charge. Please allow two working days for delivery.

Tools to Get Going

MetroWorks provides companies the communication tools and training they need to get employees riding and saving, stress-free:

- Customizable announcement letters to email employees
- Frequently-asked questions
- Program brochure
- Free information sessions at your company
- Customized CapMetro "Plan Your Trip" widget for your website and the CapMetro App
