

The bloodshed in Charlottesville was a jarring reminder for many of the human cost of white supremacy. We grieve for the life that was taken and for the bodies hurt by white supremacists this past weekend.

We, at NAPAWF, strongly condemn the racism, bigotry, anti-semitism, misogyny, and hatred that killed Heather Heyer and injured many others. That is the same white supremacist agenda that seeks to demonize immigrants and oppress women, people of color, LGBTQ people, religious minorities, and indigenous people.

As AAPI women, girls, transgender, and gender non-conforming people, our lives and the lives of those we love are on the line. Standing back is not an option.

We must push back against this hate. Will you join us and other community activists at a local vigil, action, rally, or other solidarity event? Please click HERE for a list of events in your area.

We must commit to stand in solidarity with our communities to fight white supremacy each and every day, just like we always have. We do this because we believe in a country that is inclusive and because we know that America belongs to all of us.

In solidarity,

Sung Yeon

P.S. We love seeing solidarity and love in action. Please share photos of your community's solidarity event by tagging NAPAWF on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram-- or you can also email photos to eshort@napawf.org.