Oaktree engages with over 250,000 youths and supporters across Australia. We are able to do this through our State Branches which lead campaigns, fundraisers throughout the nation. The NSW State team drives these grassroots actions within NSW, giving young people the opportunity to thrive and make a real difference by gaining support to fund our partnered work in the Asia-Pacific.

As a NSW Community Engagement Officer, you will work in a setting that develops and empowers young people in high-impact campaigning, public engagement and leadership development. You will mainly be responsible for maintaining strong relationships with local communities, schools, universities, churches and workplaces to help run our biggest campaign: Live Below the Line.

As a Community Engagement Officer, a typical day might look like:

- Implementing campaigning actions such as recruiting young people to become involved in Oaktree’s nationwide programs.
- Establishing and developing meaningful relationships with external stakeholders like schools, and community groups.
- Providing young people with opportunities to take action and to deeply engage with both our political and social impact work.
- Helping develop understanding of the challenges that impact these youth-led change and ways to overcome these.
- Taking part in regular team and State meetings either face to face or online.
- Strongly communicating Oaktree’s vision and engagement model to the wider public, which includes personal and professional networks.

We value will over skill, determination over degrees, and passion over years of experience. So go for it. Put your name forward

Who we are looking for:

- 3-4 young people aged 16-26 who are excited to work in a team of diverse, yet like-minded individuals.
- Someone who is passionate about giving young people the opportunity to thrive.
- Somebody with strong communication skills and the capacity for relationship building.
- Somebody with strong organisational skills and a drive to get things done.
- Someone who can make at least a 6-month commitment to the position.

What you will get out of it:

- Be part of a team of other passionate and like-minded volunteers.
- Help to lead a whole organisation’s vision and strategy in your state.
- Ongoing training and mentoring for your personal and professional development.
- A wealth of experience in community organising, e.g. becoming highly skilled in campaigning technology like NationBuilder.
- Make an impact in Australia and globally that provides young people with the opportunity to thrive.

TIME COMMITMENT: ~10 hours per week. | This is a volunteer position.
