Login

Log in again with your username and newly set password.

You attempted to log in from an unknown address.
Please check your email to start accepting connections from this address.

It's likely you'll get an error that looks like the above. Populus has a security feature that makes you verify with your email every time you log in from a new network (home, work, starbucks wifi, etc.)

Click ALLOW LOGINS TO POPULUS FROM THIS IP ADDRESS to give your account access to populus from that network.

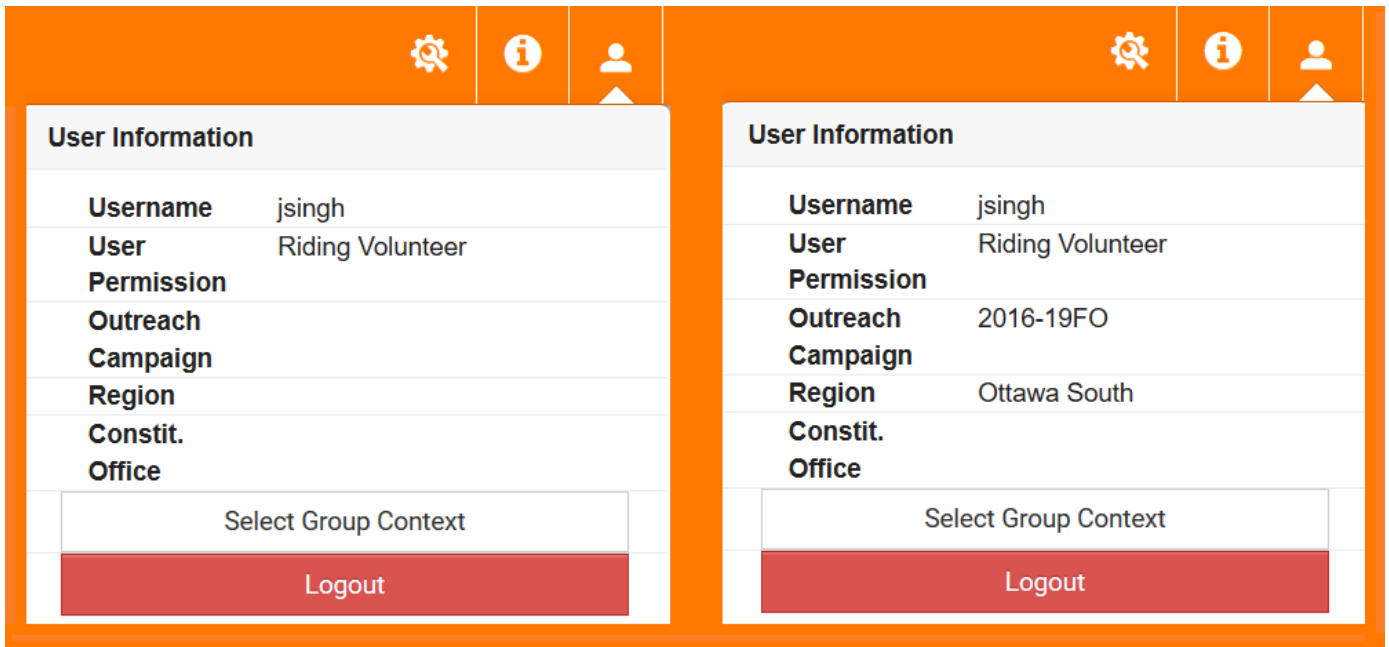

Log in again to the account.

Ensure that your riding is set up correctly

After logging in, click in the  icon in the top right corner.
