

Advance Praise for: Brown is the New White

“[H]ard-hitting ... abundant use of solid statistics ... brilliant commentary. Phillips' robust plea for profound political changes is motivating and will invite those new to the discussion to join in the fight for social change and racial equality in America. A passionate discussion of race and politics sure to inspire heated debate and ... proactive solutions.” —Kirkus Reviews

"This slim yet jam-packed call to action will be in demand, both because Phillips is a popular pundit and because the time is ripe for an upheaval in politics-as-usual.” —Booklist

"A must-read for anyone seeking to make change happen, from small towns to the halls of Congress to the White House.” —John Podesta, former chief of staff to President Bill Clinton and former counselor to President Barack Obama

“His book sparks an important conversation about what increasing racial and cultural diversity will mean for American politics and policy.” —Senator Cory Booker

“Steve Phillips has provided a vital roadmap to a more hopeful, more inclusive America. Let's pay attention to this important book as we gear up, in 2016, to use our votes to make real change.” —Van Jones, founder of the Dream Corps, CNN contributor, and author of The Green Collar Economy and Rebuild the Dream

"Progressives had better heed this call and invest in a broader, more ambitious strategy to solidify the support of the Obama coalition.”—Maria Echaveste, former White House deputy chief of staff to President Bill Clinton; policy and program development director, Chief Justice Earl Warren Institute on Law and Social Policy, University of California, Berkeley School of Law; co-founder of the Nueva Vista Group

“In this compelling new book, Steve Phillips lays out the plain facts regarding why progressives must act now to turn America's changing demographics into a political majority that could lead our nation for decades to come.” —Congressman Mark Takano

“Both the analysis and vision that runs through this book should be required reading for all policy makers and political leaders committed to ensuring our country works for all of us.”—Neera Tanden, president of Center for American Progress

“His energetic book is both a fascinating exploration of today's rapidly changing demographic landscape and an opportunity to see the future through the eyes of one of America's most engaging public servants and progressive political minds.” —Henry Louis Gates, Jr., Alphonse Fletcher University Professor, Harvard University

“Decades after Nixon's cynical political calculation, the time is ripe for a new southern strategy. This book helps point the way.” —Reverend Raphael Warnock, senior pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church, spiritual home of The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

“It's good news that, by some ways of figuring, America already has a progressive, multiracial majority. Now we all need to get to work mobilizing ourselves so that actual political power reflects that new math—this volume is a big help!” —Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author of Hope, Human and Wild.
