

Partners In Health

Whether to Liberia, Rwanda, or all the other places we work and live, we go where we're needed most. We care for patients in their homes and communities. We work in close partnership with local government officials, building capacity and strengthening health systems. And we stay, committed to accompanying the people and communities we serve for the long term.

For nearly 30 years, we've worked beside our partners to ensure that those we serve receive the best health care on earth.

1

NAVAJO NATION

Where 44% of adults live below the poverty line. We train and support community health representatives to manage chronic illnesses in partnership with Indian Health Services and Brigham and Women's Hospital.

2

MEXICO

Where 1 in 8 adults suffers from diabetes. We work with rural government clinics in the Sierra Mountains of Chiapas to provide care to people in 10 locations who previously had no reliable health services.

3

HAITI

Where just 37% of births are attended by skilled health professionals. We began working here 30 years ago and now operate 11 sites across the country, including a state-of-the-art teaching hospital in Mirebalais, where the next generation of health professionals receive education and training.

4

PERU

Where 39% of people living with tuberculosis have a multidrug-resistant strain. To support tuberculosis treatment, research, and training efforts, we opened a state-of-the-art laboratory to ensure patients receive effective medications.

5

SIERRA LEONE

Where every 100 births, a mother dies from pregnancy-related complications (in the U.S., a mother dies every 3,500 births.) We train local health professionals and ensure facilities have proper tools and equipment to care for mothers—before, during, and after pregnancy.

"The idea that some lives matter less is the root of all that's wrong with the world."

—DR. PAUL FARMER, co-founder and chief strategist of Partners In Health

6

LIBERIA

Where $66 is spent on health per person (the U.S. spends $8,900 per person.) We work with the Ministry of Health to strengthen weak health systems that were further devastated by the Ebola epidemic.

7

RWANDA

Where there are 6 physicians per 100,000 people (in the U.S., there are 241 per 100,000). We support the government of Rwanda in expanding access to care to more than 865,000 people in three rural districts, including comprehensive cancer care.

10

RUSSIA

Where 170,000 people live with tuberculosis. We collaborate with Russia's Ministry of Health to combat TB by detecting cases earlier, increasing adherence rates, improving infection control, and decreasing transmission of TB to HIV-positive patients.

8

MALAWI

Where 10% of the adult population is living with HIV. Before we began our HIV services, just five HIV-positive people were being treated with antiretroviral therapy in the district we serve. Today, in partnership with Malawi's government, nearly 9,000 patients have been enrolled in antiretroviral therapy.

9

LESOTHO

Where 1 in 10 children dies before age 5 (in the U.S., it's 1 in 143). That's why we—with Lesotho's Ministry of Health—launched a national initiative to ensure all health centers in the country are able to deliver safe, effective care to women and children.
