Building the Right to Health Movement

Social Medicine is the practice of medicine that integrates:

1. Understanding and applying the social determinants of health, social epidemiology, and social science approaches to patient care;
2. An advocacy and equity agenda that treats health as a human right;
3. An approach that is both interdisciplinary and multi-sectoral across the health system;
4. A deep understanding of local and global contexts ensuring that the local context informs and leads the global movement, and vice versa;
5. Voice and vote of patient, families, and communities.
