Pivot is looking for a Development Manager!

About Us

Pivot works in partnership with communities affected by poverty and social exclusion to identify priorities and develop solutions to complex human rights issues. Our mission is to work alongside communities to create a just, fair and equitable society through litigation, law reform, research and legal education. Pivot's work tends to focus on four policy areas: police accountability, drug policy, homelessness, and sex workers' rights.

We combine strategic litigation with high-impact public education and advocacy campaigns to maximize our effectiveness. Our deep collaboration with people and grassroots movements, combined with our unique approach to social change makes Pivot the only human rights organization of its kind in Canada.

About You

You are passionate about social justice and the mission of Pivot Legal Society. You have at least 3 years of successful fundraising experience including experience in directly soliciting gifts from individuals and organizations. You are values-driven and results-oriented, and a highly organized person. You have excellent research, communications, and writing skills. You love to collaborate with an integrated team, work with volunteers, and have excellent interpersonal skills. You have experience building relationships and have experience with event planning and coordination.

You bring an intersectional analysis to your work that relies upon an understanding of settler colonialism, white supremacy, classism, patriarchy, trans-misogyny, ableism, and anti-substance user stigma. Applicants are strongly invited to share how their lived experience informs their approach and ethics.
