Join PNHP NY Metro and national single payer health care advocates to discuss national, state, and local electoral results and what they mean for our movement.

- What health care reforms will the next President and Congress support? Will a “public option” be on the table?
- What happened in Colorado where they took universal health care to the ballot? What can we learn from it?
- Could New York be the first state to pass and implement universal, single payer health care?
- How can we build a movement to win improved Medicare for All in this political context?
