Don’t be fooled by BAD SCIENCE that Compares Apples to Oranges
If someone tells you about a study that shows higher rates of deaths for babies born at home, please ask them if they are comparing apples to oranges. Studies, like the Wax Paper, that include high-risk ACCIDENTAL out-of-hospital births are going to show worse outcomes than studies that exclusively evaluate PLANNED out-of-hospital births with a skilled midwife. These more relevant studies show no difference in risk to the baby.
