INTRODUCTION

FEAST! Local Foods Marketplace is an annual tradeshow and festival designed to expand markets for local food entrepreneurs - from farmers to food manufacturers. This Final Report presents the outcomes for the 6th annual event, held on Friday, Dec. 6 and Saturday, Dec. 7, 2019.

Each year, dozens of experts and stakeholders have brought their skills and interests to the table to plan this event with the goal of strengthening and growing the food system in Minnesota, Iowa, and Wisconsin. The vision for this event is to build exposure for quality regional foods and emphasize regional sourcing to buyers of all kinds, from wholesale to consumer retail markets.

The 2019 tradeshow and public marketplace offered many returning features: the FEAST! Local Foods Magazine, a popup Rochester Farmers Markets, and a wine/beer/cider sampling & sales area. In addition, new arts activities were offered in the lobby (see p.12).

FEAST! Local Foods Marketplace continues to be a valued community event for connecting with local foods, made by local folks, with local ingredients. See page 5 for numbers at a glance.

FEAST! Local Foods Marketplace is a production of the FEAST Local Foods Network, an ad hoc partnership of stakeholders from diverse backgrounds, including non-profits, state departments of agriculture, academic organizations and private businesses. Co-founded by the Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation and Renewing the Countryside, the Network is committed to growing a sustainable, local and regional food system that encourages innovation.

PROGRAMS - Goals and Objectives

Tradeshow

- Foster peer networking and relationship building for regional food makers.
- Support the growth of local farms and locally owned food-related businesses.
- Facilitate introductions between regional food buyers and food growers and makers.
- Position Southern Minnesota as a leader in local foods-based economic development.

Festival

- Generate increased demand for and access to local and sustainably produced food.
- Strengthen community appreciation for local farms, food businesses, and related issues.
- Support the growth of local farms and locally owned food businesses.
- Facilitate collaborations between local farms, businesses, and public and non-profit organizations.

Magazine

- Communicate the ideals behind the food festival.
- Increase awareness of local foods issues and people across MN, WI & IA.
- Promote the FEAST! festival as a unique opportunity to sip, sample and shop.
- Finance production through ad sales.

Volume Two was expanded from 36 to 48 pages, allowing for 8 feature articles (compared to five in Vol. 1). We increased the number of paid advertisers from 26 to 42 while keeping content to just 38% ads; half of advertisers in Vol. 2 were event exhibitors.

Restaurant Week

- Introduce area restaurants to regional food businesses as potential ingredients.
- Introduce consumers to regional products in a unique way.
- Highlight and promote area farm-to-table restaurants doing authentic local sourcing.
- Promote the FEAST! festival as a unique opportunity to sip, sample and shop.

Fourteen restaurants in and around Rochester came together to create the Fourth FEAST! Restaurant Week, held Oct. 7-13. Offerings included entire Prix Fixe dinners to daily specials, highlighting menu items and even cocktails that featured local ingredients. Patrons who ordered the specials were eligible to receive a coupon to attend the FEAST! festival.

PLANNING COMMITTEE & PROCESS

FEAST! is the product of an amazing group of volunteers and staff who share a vision of creating a venue for food makers and growers that will lead to a robust local foods system in Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

From registered dietitians and professional journalists to experts on community development and event management, the FEAST! Planning committee is made up of dedicated and hardworking people from the three state region.

The full planning committee met 7 times, beginning in February 2019, to brainstorm and develop strategies and workplans. Five subcommittees were formed that took on specific aspects of the workplan.

Those committees were:

- Restaurant Week
- Tradeshow
- Marketing
- Exhibitor Jury
- Sponsorship

Over 1,200 hours of volunteer and inkind time (from partner organizations) are contributed to making this event possible.

To the right, staff from the Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation, a key FEAST! organizer, passed out reusable bags during the festival.

The Feast Network is comprised of dozens of individuals and organizations:

Our 6th FEAST! enjoyed coverage from Rochester's KIMT TV in August regarding the Arts Grant announcement, and in October for Restaurant Week. Closer to the event, we had print coverage in Rochester Women and Rochester Magazine, and a video ad on KIMT-Channel 3 TV and online. During the tradeshow, KIMT did video interviews for a segment that aired Friday night on Channel 3 News. During the festival, Minnesota 97.5 radio joined us for a live remote broadcast from 10-noon, and KTTC did a video interview in front of the Veggie Alfombra that aired Saturday evening.

FEAST! Local Foods Magazine, Vol. 2 was released October 3rd, ahead of Restaurant Week and two months before the festival. In addition to the earlier release, 50% more copies were printed, with more time for distribution west to Mankato, north to the Twin Cities, east to La Crosse and Madison, and south into northern Iowa. Costs of production were covered by ad revenue, excluding staff time.

The FEAST! Local Foods SCOOP e-newsletter was produced monthly throughout 2019, with segments shared on social media (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram) and published on the FEAST! blog. SCOOP boosts our audience engagement ahead of the event through contests and profiles on food businesses, farms, restaurants and partners. The marketing team (RTC, SMIF, 4 contractors) also extended our reach through partner relationships.

SPONSORSHIP

Sponsorship generation is led by the Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation, with a handful of in-kind sponsors coordinated by Renewing the Countryside for strategic assistance with marketing and festival activities.

Support was also provided by the Minnesota State Arts Board. The arts activities were made possible by the voters of Minnesota through a grant from the Minnesota State Arts Board, thanks to a legislative appropriation from the arts and cultural heritage fund.

BUDGET

The majority of 2019 revenue was provided by sponsorships, with the Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation and the Minnesota Department of Agriculture staying on as premier sponsors in addition to more than 20 other cash and in-kind sponsors. Revenue from ticket sales has been increasing over previous years, though exhibitor registration revenues have trended downwards due to a lower exhibitor turnout. New in 2019, a Minnesota State Arts Board Festival Support Grant provided $18,150 for adding interactive arts activities to the event. The second issue of the FEAST! Local Foods Magazine just met goals for ad revenue at $11,145 which covered all publishing costs excluding staff time.

TRADESHOW OVERVIEW

Introduction

The tradeshow committee includes members from MDA, SMIF, AURI, Grow North MN, and RTC, who again endeavored to maximize the impact of the day for our exhibitors. Demonstrating our responsive and innovative approach, we shifted the schedule to hold the Buyers' Expo earlier in the day than ever before.

The afternoon offered the Support Services Mini Expo and Makers' Forum panels. To cap off the day, an awards ceremony featured speakers from partner organizations presenting four FEAST! awards and two state ag department awards (see page 19).

Welcome: 9:30 am

FESTIVAL OVERVIEW

Introduction

From 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m., farmers and makers showcased and sold their products at 81 exhibit booths. Arts activities in the lobby were a new addition this year—for details, see pages 12 and 13. Many other event features were continued from previous years, including the local food gift basket giveaways, and the following:

Kids' Area

Farmers' Market

The Rochester Farmers Markets relocated its semi-monthly winter market to FEAST!, with offerings from fresh produce to meat, dairy and honey. The market vendors brought their own tents and food stands which created an authentic market feel.

Cooking Demos

Cooking demonstrations took place hourly at the local food sampling station and featured chefs as shown below:

- Jena Erie
Kitchen manager, People's Food Co-op
- Erik Kleven
Chef and Co-owner, Bleu Duck Kitchen
- Shari Mukherjee
a.k.a. Spiced Up Mom Blog writer, Cooking/baking teacher, MasterChef Season 10 Top 6 Contestant
- Adrian Williams
Kitchen manager, Tonic Local Kitchen and Juice Bar
- Beth Dooley
Beth Dooley's Kitchen

Wine, Beer, and Cider Festival

Again in 2019, FEAST! Wine and cider vendors were able to sell up to 6 bottles to each wristband-bearing attendee. Almost 400 off-sale bottles were sold, nearly 2 cases per winery. 356 festival-goers purchased wristbands for the area, which featured 14 wineries and 3 breweries.

ARTS ACTIVITIES

Introduction

Renewing the Countryside was thrilled to add arts activities to the FEAST! Festival in 2019, thanks to a Minnesota Festival Support grant from the Minnesota State Arts Board. Four artists were contacted and written into a proposal in March 2019 that was awarded in July. The funding allowed us to hire an array of artists for a range of activities designed to engage, involve and entertain FEAST! attendees.

Vegetable Alfombra

Susan Waughtal

Artist Susan Waughtal was excited about the opportunity to create a Vegetable “Alfombra,” or carpet at FEAST!. Inspired by South American street festivals, she curated the project in collaboration with the Rochester Farmers Market Aggregation Project to source product from local farms. A special viewing stage was constructed so attendees could view the masterpiece from above, and the produce was donated to Channel One Food Bank after the event.

String Survey

Arlene Birt/Background Stories

Background Stories founder Arlene Birt has participated in installations around the world with her work intersecting art, design, and visual storytelling. The “String Survey” invited attendees to weave their own yarn as they responded to questions, for a collective display that represents attendees’ thoughts about local foods.

Videography

Ross Ballinger

Ross captured festival-goers creating the alfombra and string survey, and enjoying the music. This will help festival planners as they work to document how the public engages with and enjoys this arts addition to the local foods show.

Live Music

Mary DuShane & Nick Jordan: a lively array of vintage old time, Cajun and swing songs, with Appalachian and some Irish fiddle tunes.

CBB Jazz Combo: Nathan Davidson on saxophone and Dan “The Piano Man” Rengstorf on keys, featuring holiday pops.

Ilika Ward Guitar Duo: Jake Ilika and Joel Ward with smooth guitar grooves and vocal harmonies.

PUBLIC SURVEYS

We collected information from public attendees with a Dot Survey. The survey asked three questions by placing dot-stickers, and a staff member recorded the respondents' zip codes and other feedback. In addition to the respondents shown on the map to the left, respondents were also from Arizona, Colorado, Georgia, Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, and Wyoming.

We also utilized a post-event follow-up SurveyMonkey, where we asked about attendees' engagement with the arts activities and artists as well as whether their participation in the arts exhibits affected how they thought about local food producers and makers.

TRADESHOW EVALUATIONS

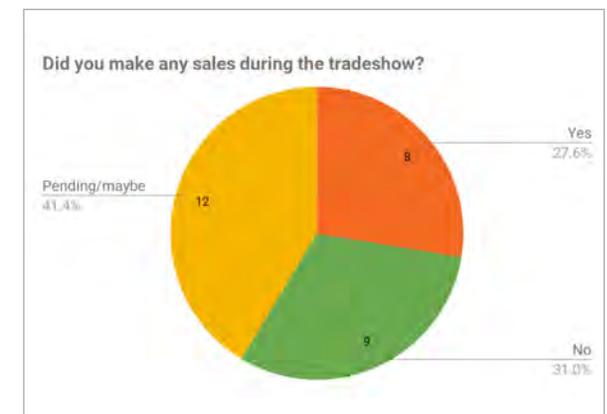

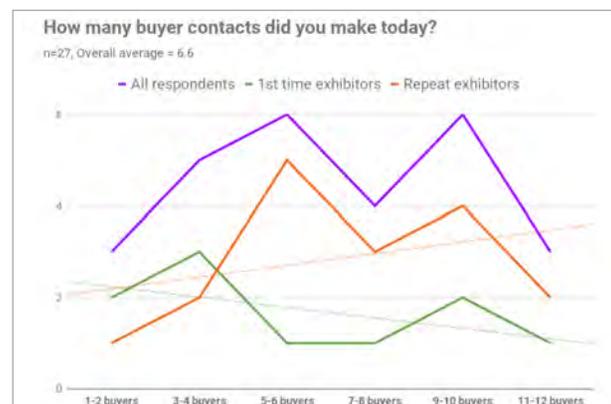

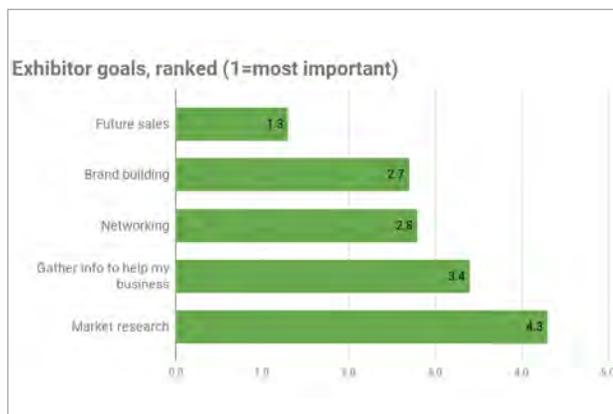

The FEAST! 2019 industry-only tradeshow was held on Friday, December 6, with a new format. In response to exhibitor and buyer feedback, and in the interest of increasing buyer attendance, the schedule was flipped: instead of beginning the day with networking and education, a brief welcome was followed by the Buyers Expo. This presented challenges in arranging the afternoon schedule, and also for collecting evaluations. The questionnaire was distributed and collected at the end of the day, but a significant number of vendors had left early. The results presented here represent feedback from 27 exhibitors.

General comments

- Not enough buyers to make it worth a full day away from business; good location. Saturday's market is always a good event for us, but the Friday event has become less helpful. Suggestion: keep the Saturday market in early Dec but move the buyer/business showcase to Jan/Feb when our businesses are slower.
- Too much time between panels
- Very nice itinerary today - went very smoothly. Everything was great! Super job to all!

What was most helpful about today?

- Getting re-connected with makers—sharing info!
- very interesting & helpful service booths
- this is a great group! everyone here is so nice & willing to give advice!! Thank you!

FESTIVAL EVALUATIONS

On December 7th, FEAST! welcomed the general public for the 6th Annual Festival, featuring special areas for the Rochester Downtown Farmers Market and craft wine/cider/beer, where wine and cider sales were allowed, by the bottle (limit 6).

Self-reported sales, shown aggregated, averaged $649, which is higher than the past two years. Data is from 54 questionnaires collected from exhibitors at the end of the day.

Exhibitor comments

- Really, I felt welcomed, supported and part of the community. Thank you!
- Thank you for hosting this event, love supporting local vendors!

Suggestions for improvement

- Concerned about the admission charge to the public...not sure it can go much higher
- Advertise North of Rochester (Nfld, Fgtn, Lakeville, Burnsville); Keep entry fee lower - hard for 1st time vendors just starting out - even with reimbursement most of us don't know about.
- increase social media advertising
- Give a cheaper rate for businesses that sell under $5,000/yr. Hardship.

BUYER EVALUATIONS

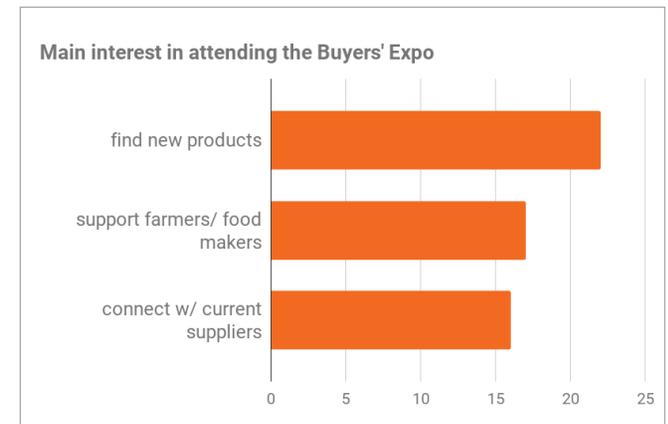

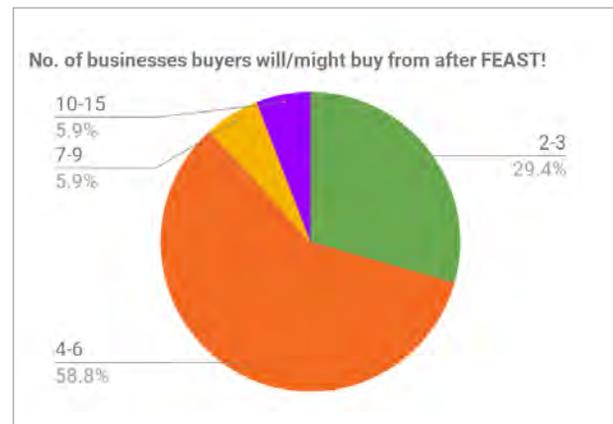

For FEAST! 2019, changes to increase buyer participation included offering a referral bonus to exhibitors for buyer registrations, and starting the Buyers' Expo at 10am, much earlier than in previous years. A brief questionnaire was collected from buyers in attendance; to boost response levels, we also sent a link to the questionnaire online. Eighteen questionnaires were completed at the event and five were submitted online for a total of 23 responses. Of those, 16 (70%) had not attended FEAST! the previous year. 83% said the earlier timeframe was preferable, and 89% agreed that four hours was a sufficient duration. 94% said they hope to attend next year.

Buyer comments:

- It would be great if vendors came with wholesale price lists and ordering minimums. It would also be great if Feast was held earlier in the year. This is tough to attend and tough to order for Christmas. We think it is great that you support local and we want to do that at our shop. We order from a lot of the current vendors. I think most of our local vendors were at Feast.
- It was smaller than I anticipated but still productive use of my time.
- Keep it up! Great show.

On incentives to boost buyer attendance:

- More vendors (x3)
- Presentations
- Lunch
- It would be great if it was earlier in the year so there was time to order ahead of the holidays.

AWARDS

FEAST! Awards were presented during the tradeshow and festival to honor outstanding effort. We debuted the Nicci Sylvester Award, with Nicci's business partner Tim Wiste presenting an award to Bleu Duck Kitchen. Tim said, "I remember when Nicci started the Tonic concept, she started by introducing herself to all of the farmers and vendors at the Rochester Farmers Market. From there she made lifetime friends and local sources for her fresh, handmade food."

From Left to Right:

1. Most Engaging Booth: Dani Dircks of Sailor Mercy, who makes elderberry syrup.
2. Nicci Sylvester Award: To Bleu Duck Kitchen, and to Tim Wiste, for keeping Tonic going strong
3. People's Choice: CannonBelles Cheese, who earned 10% of the public votes for favorite booth.
4. Inspiring Social Benefit: John Petersen of Ferndale Market, who donates turkeys during holidays among other times.
5. Innovative Local Sourcing: Layne Cozzolino of Siren Shrub Co., who creates each product flavor as a collaboration with a Wisconsin farmer who provides the key ingredient.

Minnesota Department of Agriculture presented an award to Sara's Topsy Pies; Something Special from Wisconsin™ program, to Out of the Kitchen.
