

David Reside currently serves as the Deputy Director for the Europe and Eurasia Country Affairs team in the Europe and Eurasia Bureau at USAID. David has over 35 years of experience working with international development efforts, including more than five years on long-term assignments in countries covered by the EE region. David began his international career as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Zaire and went on to long-term assignments managing programs for NGOs, consulting firms, and the US Government in Sierra Leone, Guinea, Bangladesh, Russia (Vladivostok), Moldova, Micronesia, and in the US. Before joining the EE Country Affairs Office in 2012, David spent nearly four years serving as the Pakistan Country Coordinator within the Office of US Foreign Assistance.

David received his B.Sc. from the University of Illinois and holds a Master's degree in aquaculture from Auburn University and an MBA from Thunderbird, the American Graduate School for International Management.

Originally from Jacksonville, Illinois, David is now happily ensconced in Silver Spring, Md. with his spouse, Alison, and their two children, Sarah and Jack.

Marcia Sofia Anglarill is the Public Diplomacy Desk Officer for Andean Affairs in the Bureau of Western Hemisphere Affairs. She covers Bolivia, Colombia, Peru, Ecuador and Venezuela. She has been a Foreign Service Officer for fifteen years. Prior assignments include U.S. Embassy Hanoi as the Cultural Affairs Officer, Cultural Coordinator for the Bureau of East Asian Pacific Affairs' Public Diplomacy Office, Public Affairs Officer at U.S. Consulate General Peshawar, and Assistant Information Officer at U.S. Embassy Bogota. She has also served as a Political/Economic Officer at U.S. Consulate General Monterrey and Consular Officer in Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam. Prior to joining the Foreign Service, Marcia worked for various NGOs as a program director, trainer/facilitator, and communications assistant. She was a Peace Corps Volunteer in Costa Rica from 1998-2000. Marcia has a bachelor's degree in Political Science from Clemson University and a master's degree in International Peace and Conflict Resolution from American University. She was born in Washington, D.C. to Bolivian parents. She is married and a mother to a ten-year old beagle.

Stefanie Fabrico

Stefanie is the Governance Policy Lead on the Central America Strategy Team in the Office of Central American Affairs (CEN) at the Department of State. She previously served as the Guatemala Desk Officer in CEN, where she was responsible for all aspects of the U.S.- Guatemala bilateral relationship, including political, economic, commercial, and U.S. citizen issues. Prior to joining CEN, Stefanie was the Economic Inclusion Officer in the Bureau of Western Hemisphere Affairs' Office of Regional Economic Policy and Summit Coordination, where she led policy implementation of the Women's Entrepreneurship in the Americas (WEAmericas) and Pathways to Prosperity in the Americas initiatives. Stefanie began her career at the Department of State in 2012 as a Presidential Management Fellow (PMF). As a PMF, Stefanie served as an action officer in the Bureau of International Organizations covering human rights and humanitarian affairs policy within the United Nations context, and as an activity manager in the Latin American and Caribbean Bureau of the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), where she managed the expansion of a youth workforce development program into Guatemala and Honduras. Prior to joining the Department of State, Stefanie served in the United States Peace Corps as a Municipal Development Advisor in Todos Santos Cuchumatán, Huehuetenango, Guatemala. Stefanie received a Master of Public Administration with a concentration in International Management from George Mason University and a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology and Communication from the George Washington University.

Bob Viglietta joined the Department of State in September 2016. He currently works in the Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs' Office of Threat Finance Countermeasures, covering the counter-terrorism finance portfolio. Bob earned a Master's in Education and Human Development from the George Washington University and his undergraduate degree from SUNY Geneseo. He served in Peace Corps Rwanda (2012-2015) as an education volunteer, first as a secondary school English teacher, then at an education-focused NGO, and ultimately as Peace Corps Volunteer Leader. Bob grew up in upstate New York but now calls Capitol Hill home.

Ellen Noe is an Information Officer at Macfadden/PAE providing support to USAID's Office of Food for Peace where she previously held the role of Policy Coordinator. Prior to joining USAID/ FFP she completed her Masters in Sustainable Development: International Policy & Management at the School for International Training and served as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Nicaragua from 2013-2015.