1. Should elected leadership involve local Charitable Non-Profits in issues relating to Social issues? (Homeless and Street individuals) It is the due diligence of the council member to reach out as best as possible to the local community members to get the best idea of how to go about issues. Small businesses and local non-profits that operate within our city limits are included in this. It is the duty of the council members to form these positive relationships for open and consistent communication.
2. To what level should elected leadership be concerned with individual property rights? Our council members should be local community members that are properly representing our neighbors. This leadership position as council member is to speak to them and represent the voice's of the many people they build relationships with. When I speak to the people in my community they are concerned, which makes it important to me to represent them.
3. How can government strengthen the local economy? I believe the local government has the best opportunity to create innovative and unique solutions to areas of our city that best continues to represent the residents properly as well as grow to support our future generations well.
4. Which is best, government controls or free markets, and why? Our country was founded on innovation and freedom. A free market allows for many more opportunity and growth from the people as it should be.
5. When should government be involved in Social engineering? I do not believe the government should be involved in social engineering. Our local government should not be ones to influence the people in our community but rather connect and protect our neighbors from such actions.
6. How can government strengthen Families? Our leadership should be the voice of the families in our community. Connecting our neighbors to our leadership better opens dialog to help families where they need it most. This level of government is most about connecting with the neighbors and citizens to make that impact the strongest.
7. Who is responsible for the child, the parents or the State? Parents Why? To much are people having children knowing the government will "take care" of them regardless and in some cases the government supports this behavior by rewarding the parent with services as well, this is creating a bad unconscious behavior cycle in our young people that is negatively impacting our economy.
8. Explain your understanding of following, regarding the US Constitution, should it be understood by "Original Intent" and /or as a "Living Document"? I believe the intent of the constitution is as a living document. It allows for the constitution to be the basis and foundation of how we grow in the right way as a nation while keeping the morals and values the country was built on.
9. Have you read the Washington State Constitution, and do you agree to support this document entirely? No, I have not read the entire 118 pages, but I will work to make that a priority upon election as there is much value to this knowledge and I love to learn.
