

PO Box 6317
Bridgewater, NJ 08807-9999

908-947-0337
info@SikhRI.org
www.SikhRI.org

For Immediate Release
16 April, 2015
Bridgewater, NJ

Sikh Research Institute (SikhRI) is offering its second online course for learning "Language of Gurbani" on developing a better understanding and appreciation of the languages of Guru Granth Sahib.

The Language of Gurbani serves as an introductory course to the linguistic aspects of Gurbani. It covers major elements of Gurbani language in the form of instructions and discussion through structured online sessions, offline personal reading and practice on the following:

- Language – Language system, Inscribed Elegance (script), Phonology (sound)
- Grammar – Parts of speech, inflection categories and case types

The course is based on the text book Guru Granth Sahib – Its Language and Grammar.

2015 TERM COURSE DETAILS:

Registration opens: 14 April 2015

Registration closes: 25 April 2015

Course starts: 2 May 2015

Course ends: 31 May 2015

Course length: 5 weeks, 12 hours of pre-recorded instructions, 10 hours of discussion sessions (2 classes of approximately 60 minutes each every weekend), 36 non-instruction hours including readings and exercises.

Time: 12 pm EDT

Course fee: $150

Capacity: Open to 20 participants

Program timings are subject to change in order to accommodate majority of the participants.

For those who wish to delve deeper into the linguistics of Gurbani, this course offers an opportunity to engage and learn in the comfort of your home.

By offering this on-line course, SikhRI continues to build on its reputation for providing educational resources to Sikhs to lead a Guru-inspired life.

Take the first step, connect with the Guru.

###

About the Sikh Research Institute

The Sikh Research Institute (SikhRI) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization with a mission to provide educational resources to Sikhs to lead a Guru-inspired life. All donations are tax deductible.