

Kelley Lynn is a stand-up comedian, actor, and writer. She has performed on the same lineups with such names as Judy Gold, Amy Schumer, Jim Gaffigan, and Elayne Boosler, and is a regular feature in several comedy videos for the "OpieRadio" YouTube channel ("The Opie and Jim Norton Show" - xm/Sirius radio) Their 2015 video, "I've McFallen", went viral with over 50 million views worldwide. Kelley is also known for her scathingly funny reality-show TV reviews of "The Bachelor", and "Dancing With the Stars." Tom Bergeron is a regular reader, calling Kelley "wonderfully snarky." Kelley has been giving her 75-minute comedic presentations about grief and loss, at the Soaring Spirits International Events of Camp Widow East, West, and Canada –since 2013. She is also the Friday writer for their blog, "Widow's Voice." Kelley is a new featured writer at LoveTV, penning weekly articles about dating, love, and sex from a widow's perspective. She was recently chosen as a TEDx speaker, and her talk, entitled: "When It Comes to the Death of Someone You Love, There Is No Such Thing as Moving On", will be available live-stream on March 31st at www.tedxadelphiuniversity.com. Kelley recently moved back to her home state of Massachusetts, in order to write her first book: "My Husband Is Not a Rainbow: The Brutally Awful, Hilarious Truth About Life, Love, Grief, and Loss", with a tentative release of winter 2017. To date, Kelley's proudest accomplishment, is being blocked on Twitter, by President Donald Trump. To find more of Kelley, check out her site at www.akelleylynnlife.com, her popular grief blog at www.riphthelifeiknew.com, or find her on Instagram/Twitter/Vine @kelleyiskelley. Thank you.