

NRM South and Tasmanian Women in Agriculture invite you to:

The woolly questions on sheep drenching and vaccination

Do you own sheep?

Want to learn more about vaccination and drenching?

Want to network with other local sheep owners and discuss options for sharing costs and equipment through cooperative arrangements?

Come along and learn how to drench and vaccinate your sheep correctly. Andrew Bailey, Senior Industry Development and Extension Officer from TIA, will be on hand to answer all your woolly questions.

This is a hands-on workshop and there will be an opportunity to try vaccination under supervision.

When: Tuesday 20 December 2016 10AM – 1PM

Where: Clifton Farm, 121 Wilmot RD, Huonville

Cost: $20 including a light lunch

Register via <https://nrmsouthdrenchingsheep.eventbrite.com.au>

For further information please contact Holly Hansen:

hhansen@nrmsouth.org.au or 0428 259 156

