Switching gears slightly, now you'll see some questions about upcoming elections in New York City.

As you may or may not know, the Democratic primary will be using a new system called Ranked Choice Voting, where voters choose their 1st choice candidate for a position but can also list their 2nd choice, 3rd choice and so on if they would like.

QHR_MAY. Below is what the ballot for Democratic nominee for mayor of New York City will look like.

If today were election day, who would you vote for?

Rank candidates in the order of your choice. Mark the circle in the '1st choice' column for your first-choice candidate. Mark the circle in the '2nd choice' column for your second-choice candidate, and so on. You may rank as many as three candidates depending on your preferences, but you may rank fewer. Ranking a second and third-choice candidate will not hurt your first-choice candidate.
