Vision Zero Cleveland: Safe, Sustainable Streets for All

Vision Zero Cleveland will share efforts currently underway, including their upcoming Action Plan, to support safe and sustainable transportation for all.

Presenters:

- Calley Mersmann, Bicycle and Pedestrian Coordinator, City of Cleveland Planning Commission
- Anne Tillie, Research and Policy Analyst, Cleveland City Council
- Annie Pease, Director of Transportation, University Circle Inc.
- Karis Tzeng, Director of AsiaTown Initiatives, Midtown Cleveland

Detailed Description:

“Vision Zero Cleveland is an initiative of the City of Cleveland and Cleveland City Council, in partnership with local agencies and community groups, working to eliminate all traffic fatalities and severe injuries.

To help support safe, healthy, and equitable mobility for all Clevelanders, Vision Zero Cleveland is creating an Action Plan to build a transportation network in Cleveland based on a “Safe Systems Approach”—one that layers and leverages the shared responsibility of those involved in the transportation network to eliminate deaths and serious injuries. A Safe Systems Approach makes it safe for everyone to move through the city whether they are walking, rolling, or in a vehicle.

Join members of Vision Zero Cleveland for progress updates and ways to get involved to help make Cleveland's streets safer and more sustainable."
