

2016 Waitangi Week Workshop Series

Institutional Racism 101

with Dr Heather Came and Grant Berghan

Monday 01 February, 9.30am – 1pm

An introductory workshop to explore ethical values, social justice and community inequities, working with Te Tiriti o Waitangi and human rights. Helping to demystify some of those commonly asked, yet unanswered questions: What is institutional racism? How does it manifest? How can we build collective action to transform it? Action vs Inaction.

The Treaty of Waitangi 101

with Treaty Educator Margaret Smith

Tuesday 02 February, 9.30am – 2pm

Margaret Smith has 21 years experience facilitating cultural identity and Treaty of Waitangi discussions in the Taranaki community. This session will be extremely informative and will explore and guide you to a basic understanding of the Treaty of Waitangi 1840 – 2016.

Myth Busting 101

with community expert Ngamata Skipper

Wednesday 03 February, 9.30am - 12.30pm

Myth Busting 101 will be a fun and informative session aiming to provide a basic guide to understanding some 'every day' Māori custom and culture.

Fostering Leadership 101

with Aotearoa Zulu Nation member and Hip Hop expert Sen Taong

Thursday 04 February, 9.30am - 11.30am

Sen will explore aspects of leadership through a Hip Hop lens. Sharing the history of the movement from America to Aotearoa. Through music, murals and new generation forms of art, like Hip Hop activists and organisers are given the opportunity to unmask and intersect issues of community and the impacts of colonisation such as racism and violence. Cultural organising is not a question of either art or activism, it is the combination of the two.
