Who's Who in the $200,000 Club?

James Hoffa and Ken Hall

At $313,989 plus a $60,000 “housing allowance” Hoffa is a fat-cat and a lame duck, buying time while negotiating concessions. Hall wants to run for IBT President, but he’s been missing in action and hasn’t attracted much support. He was completely silent when the IBT gave UPS concessions and then imposed the contract over a No vote by the members. That’s not leadership.

Denis Taylor

Taylor imposed two-tier concessions on UPS package car drivers, settled for $13 an hour starting pay for part-timers, and called UPS feeder drivers lazy. But he hiked his own salary by $41,000. Should officials who bargain concessions and impose them after members vote No get that kind of raise?

Ernie Soehl

Soehl got the difficult job of Freight Director, after former Freight Director Tyson Johnson was defeated in the 2016 IBT election. He is now bargaining with YRC, Holland and New Penn on behalf of 24,000 Teamsters who are working under slashed wages and benefits. In 2017, Soehl got a raise of over $62,000.
