A Silent Grief

Across our nation, millions of families experience an unresolved, and often undefined, grief associated with the loss of a child to abortion. This pain often increases with time and life changes.

In trying to resolve their grief, some have received support from families, friends, places of worship, and through post-abortion counseling services. Most, however, carry the "secret" in silence.

A Burden Lifted

Families of aborted children need a unique place of healing...

...a place to share the loss and grief with others who have suffered similarly.

...a place to honor and remember the unborn in a tangible way.

...a place of closure.

The Memorial features a fifty-foot granite "Wall of Names," which holds small brass plates with words of remembrance placed by mothers, fathers and other family members from all over the country. Many sentimental gifts are left at the Wall of Names.

(Plates on the "Wall of Names" are for aborted children only.)

The Memorial also includes the original painting, "I Will Hold You in Heaven," historical markers, and a Remembrance Garden.

The Pool of Tears (below) is dedicated to the memory of children lost to miscarriage.

For a plate, call 800.505.5565.

"...what a victory!"
~ Dr. James Dobson ~

"As significant as the Vietnam Memorial, it gives women who lost children to abortion a place to mourn."
~ Carol Everett ~

"After 'carrying' my babies around all these years, I can finally put them to rest. This has helped me so much..."
~ a mother ~

"I thank you for the opportunity to make a permanent record and to tell the world that my son did exist, if only for a while."
~ a father ~

"...allows us to honor unborn children and provide love and healing for mothers."
~ Cal Thomas ~
