ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This guide represents the collective spirit behind It’s Time Network. It reflects the experience of the participants at the roundtable event in San Francisco woven together with the work of the author of the draft report, editors, reviewers and the professionals consulted in creating this Mayors Guide.

With special thanks to:

Eleanor LeCain, President and CEO of The Breakthrough Way, for her role as the primary author of this publication, and for her dedicated work as the Project Manager of the Mayors Roundtable, who designed the event and table topics; served as co-moderator of the Mayors Roundtable; helped identify and invite roundtable leaders and participants; served as liaison to mayors and the US Conference of Mayors; arranged the Mayors photo on page 2; designed the structure and flow of the report; and turned discussion notes into narrative text and recommendations for action in all chapters. Emily M. Murase, Ph.D., for contributions to event design and table topic selection, for issuing invitations to plenary speakers and civil society leaders, and for co-moderating the event. Emily’s staff and interns at the San Francisco Department on the Status of Women, including Elizabeth Newman, supported all event logistics and production details including volunteer coordination.

Jan Richman for her professional editing skills that took the draft report through the final peer review process to final copy.

Betsy McKinney as Senior Editor and co-writer of the Mayors Guide, and as Founder and CEO of It’s Time Network.

Kathy Azada, Azada Design Company, for graphic design of the Mayors Guide.

Carol Sacco, photographer, for photos used in the Mayors Guide.

It’s Time Network staff:

Christy Camp, Executive Assistant and Project Manager, for her administrative and event coordination support.

Heidi Hartmann, Ph.D., President, Institute for Women's Policy Research, and Deb Walsh, Director, Center for American Women and Politics (CAWP), for providing important guidance throughout the development of the Mayors Guide.

Lora O’Connor, for her contributions, along with Eleanor LeCain, to the development of the roundtable Mayors event that was originally planned for It’s Time 2015: The Partnership Summit to Elevate Women’s Leadership and for her overall support of this endeavor.
