REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS
FOR RENOVATION OF THE WALL LAS MEMORIAS

I. INTRODUCTION

Inspired by the events that occurred in the summer of 1993, The Wall-Las Memorias Project (TWLMP) was created with the mindset of bringing HIV/AIDS awareness to the Latino community. The movement began when founder, Richard Zaldivar was confronted with the news of a close friend testing positive for HIV. After observing the reaction and guilt in his friend, Richard was determined to create an avenue of dialogue dedicated to educating both his community and the rest of the world about HIV/AIDS prevention.

Using the knowledge gained from his days as community organizer and field deputy to legendary city councilman Art Snyder, Richard fostered the idea of building a wall panel of the Virgin de Guadalupe with the names of 200 people who died from AIDS. The wall would stand in the east-northeast area of Los Angeles as a physical representation of the struggle carried on by many men and women affected by the illness. That idea quickly turned into a vision for a monument, one which would mark the beginning of a movement for change.

The Wall-Las Memorias Project was founded on December 1st, 1993 and work quickly began on bringing to life the vision of an AIDS monument in Lincoln Park. With strong community support for the project, local elected officials—including then State Assemblyman Gil Cedillo, Governor Gray Davis, and Los Angeles Mayor James Hahn—helped secure state and local public funding for the monument, making it the first publicly funded AIDS monument in the nation.

The campaign to construct the monument lasted eleven years and was often met by opposition, which was overcome through the strong support and generosity of the community. The project recruited support from youth, parents, LGBT, ministers from the Catholic, Protestant, Evangelical community as well as elected officials, entertainers and other community leaders.

Richard’s vision finally came to life on December 1st, 2004. The dedication of the AIDS monument was attended by over 1500 members from across the community. Laura Diaz of CBS L.A., Francisco Pinto from Univision, Dionne Warwick, Apollonia Kotero and Lupe Ontiveros, as well as the Los Angeles Gay Men’s Choir, were some of the luminaries present that night.

The site of The Wall Las Memorias is in need of rejuvenation and renovation. Anticipated improvements include new landscaping, updated irrigation system, new pedestrian level lighting, security cameras, interpretive signage and hardscape/walkway improvements. The Agency is looking for an innovative and artistic approach to these design elements which will best communicate the site to the public. This project includes renovation of the site and does not include any improvements to the memorial exhibits or installations.

A non-mandatory preconference meeting will be scheduled for December 21, 2016 at 11:30 AM at the project site located at 3600 N. Mission Road, Los Angeles, CA 90031
