

JOB POSTING ORGANIZER

The Toronto & York Region Labour Council is seeking an organizer to work as part of the leadership and staff team in a dynamic and fast-paced organization that is responding to a pandemic, a changing economy and new political realities in Canada's largest urban centre. This will be a one-year full-time contract position with the possibility of becoming permanent.

Responsibilities will include working with the Labour Council President and staff on all aspects of the Council's work in both Toronto and York Region, including political action, building union strength, the development of networks of union activists around key campaign goals, and other duties as assigned. They may provide support or be the lead for events, activities, and projects/campaigns, and will communicate about campaigns, activities and events. Travel within the region will be required.

The successful candidate will have extensive experience in union, political or community organizing and a good knowledge of the labour movement. They must have strong interpersonal skills, be able to work as part of a team, be committed to the equity and anti-racism goals of the Council, and be able to carry out their work with a minimal amount of supervision. The successful candidate will develop work plans, and report regularly on the progress and barriers to their work plan. Fluency in a second language will be an asset. Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Labour Council is committed to providing a fair and equitable work environment and encourages applications from people who are members of equity-seeking groups.

Applications will be accepted until 12:00 noon, Friday, November 19th, 2021 by e-mail to campaigns@labourcouncil.ca

We thank all applicants for their interest. Only those candidates chosen for interviews will be contacted.
