Working People's Day of Action

-----2.24.18-----

On February 24, 2018, thousands of working people and our allies in Philadelphia and across the country will join together to demand an end to a system that is rigged against working people and our unions.

Unions give workers a powerful voice in speaking up themselves and advancing the economic interests of themselves, their families and their communities. Now, corporate elites, anti-labor extremists and corrupt politicians want to further rig the system through a Supreme Court case called Janus v. AFSCME Council 31, which attempts to divide working people by reducing the number of union members, splitting private and public sector unions and limiting our power to bargain collectively and fight for labor's agenda in the political arena.

Join us on February 24 at Thomas Paine Plaza. Let's come together to defend what Michael Quill, the founder and first President of the Transport Workers Union, and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. fought and died for as champions of working people: a decent standard of living, affordable health care, equitable pay, quality education, retirement benefits, vibrant communities and a secure and prosperous future for our children.

Remember---when working people join forces and stick together, we are unstoppable.
